Foreword . . .

One hundred years have now passed since an enactment of the General Court of Massachusetts gave legal existence to Tufts College. Interest had mounted from discussions held as early as 1817 to culminate in a formal resolution of "the Universalist denominations of Christians" on March 17, 1848 to establish "a College for the instruction of their young men in the higher branches of education," and "to build and endow such College by subscription." Two years later, almost to the day, the subscriptions were begun in the name of the newly incorporated institution of learning.

Proselyting within the orthodox institutions of that period gave impetus to the desire for an institution in which the simple pursuit of truth, and not the conversion to any particular religious tenets, should be the object sought. We are heirs of this liberal tradition within which the college has been maintained, and to this day similar cause is given for the reaffirmation of that faith. For the further maintainance of educational freedom, we must continue to repulse those who pretend to authority by right of power, promotion of fear, or despotism of custom.

C. N. 102.
COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In the year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Fifty.

ACT to incorporate the Tufts Institution of Learning

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
TUFTS COLLEGE
MASSACHUSETTS

To the Editors the 1950 Junior Books:

Just one hundred years ago in 1850 the Senate and the House of Representatives passed and the Governor approved an act to allow the establishment of Tufts College. Two years later our College Charter was granted by the Legislature.

The class of 1950 has now reason to think of itself as a centennial class. This fact gives us an especial challenge to look back over the century that has passed. Tufts began as a small, New England college of high standards. It has maintained this tradition. Today Tufts is a small University - college. Tufts does not wish to be larger, but it hopes each year to become an even finer institution.

Tufts does not try to teach every subject, but it has rightly won wide recognition because of the distinction of its professors, libraries, laboratories, and other educational facilities. Institutions such as Tufts are guardians of the wisdom, culture, and scientific knowledge of society.

Truth that cannot be predicted will certainly take place before the fateful year 2000. At commencement fifty years from now, Tufts medals will be awarded to members of this year's class when they return, laden with honors for their fiftieth reunions. May all the years of this century be years of achievement and satisfaction for the members of the class of 1950!

Leonard Carmichael
President, Tufts College.

While recognizing the historical importance of the mid-point of the nineteenth century for Tufts College, there is an awareness of the variety of dates determined officially for anniversary celebrations. The Semi-Centennial in June, 1905, commemorated the date of the formal opening of the College, and the inauguration of Hosea Ballou as first President, in August, 1855. Even that ceremony had been at first planned for 1904 by the committee of the Faculty and Trustees, in memory of the first Faculty meeting held in October, 1854, when the first three students were in residence. Consideration has also been given to the celebration of the laying of the cornerstone of Ballou Hall, July 19, 1853. At present the signing of the charter in 1852, providing the institution with its structure of government, is considered the official founding date and will be commemorated in 1952 instead of the 1955 ceremony which was anticipated at the Semi-Centennial program.

An historical narration of the College must begin with the early proponents of an educational institution within the Universalist denomination who were recorded in the newspapers and church meetings during the first decade of the nineteenth century. The questions raised and proposals submitted were treated as matters of great need although requiring future action. In 1840 the Massachusetts Convention of Universalists resolved that it was expedient to establish a "seminary for the preparation of young men for the gospel ministry," and appointed a committee to nominate a "board of trustees, whose duty it shall be to select a site for an institution, to take a deed thereof in trust for this Convention, to raise funds, and to erect a suitable building, to appoint its principal and other officers."

Before the trustees were nominated and organization effected, "in consequence of an offer made by Mr. Charles Tufts, of Charlestown, to make a gift of ten acres on Walnut Hill as a site for the institution," the name "Walnut Hill Evangelical Seminary" was adopted. At the organization of the trustees, January 25, 1841, Dr. Oliver Dean was chosen president, Rev. Thomas Whitmore, secretary, and Timothy Cotting, Esq., treasurer.

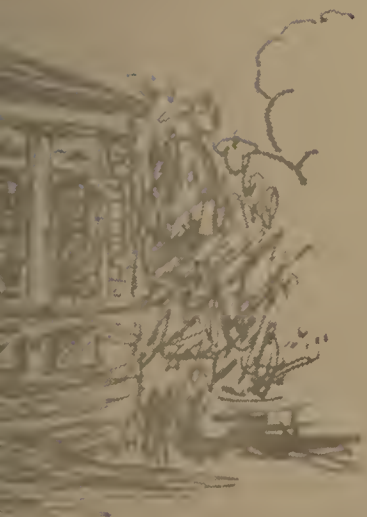

The Universalist Register for 1844 announced, "The Walnut Hill Theological Seminary appeared to be dropped, at least for the present." Meanwhile, however, efforts were made in another direction. In 1845 a movement for the establishment of a theological department at Clinton Liberal Institute was begun but again the subscriptions proposed for endowment had not materialized.

Circulars were issued in 1847 calling for an Education Convention to meet in New York City in May of that year. This meeting adopted resolutions stating that the need for a college existed and that an effort would be made to answer the wants of the denomination by founding a college. This was reported at the General Convention of Universalists assembled on September 14, 1847, and the following day Dr. Hosea Ballou, 2nd, inspired action with the text of this sermon, "Unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required."

The formal acceptance of Dr. Ballou's suggestions presented in that "Occasional Sermon," provided for a business committee appointed to secure an agent or agents to raise money and also to determine the location for the college. In the process of deciding upon the Walnut Hill site, consideration was given to Mr. Dean's offer of land in Franklin, Massachusetts and to land in the valleys of the Hudson River, the Connecticut River near Springfield, and the Mohawk River.

The suggested names varied equally with the proposed sites and when the General Court of Massachusetts enacted and Governor Briggs signed the charter incorporating Tufts College on March 20, 1850, it was the first instance of using the name and the location which have continued now for one hundred years. From that date deposits and subscriptions were received in its name.

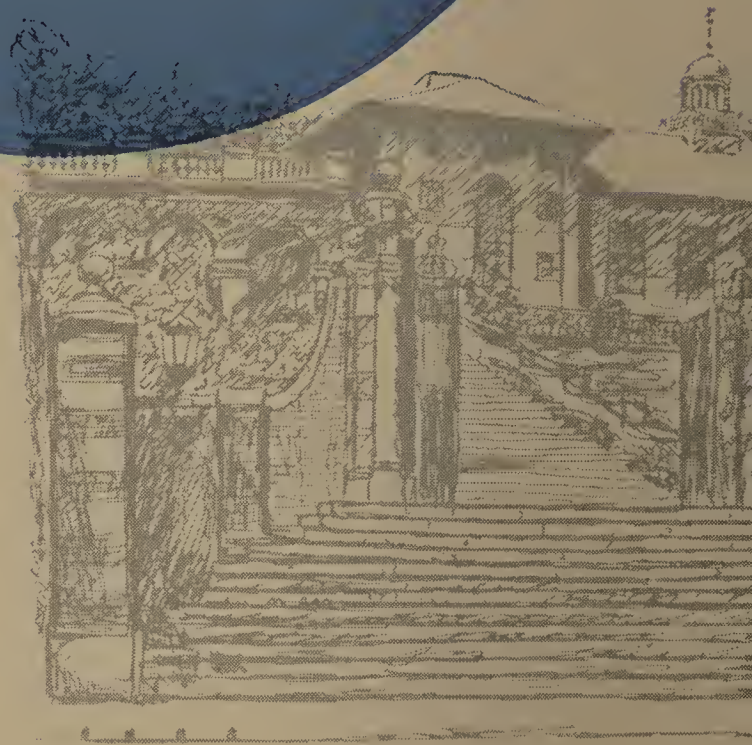

These subscribers were called together in Boston on Tuesday, September 16, 1851, at which time Rev. T. J. Sawyer reported for the business committee appointed in 1847, that the sum required to bind all offers had been subscribed. On September 18, the Board of Trustees was elected. At the first formal meeting of the trustees, November 19, 1851, the twenty-three members were present, and voted to obtain a charter for academic organization in the next session of the legislature.

Having received this charter of organization on April 21, 1852, the Trustees met again in July to plan the erection of college buildings, and at that meeting Rev. Thomas J. Sawyer was unanimously elected as President of the College. The instruction to the committee on buildings was to "proceed immediately to erect a building for the use of the college."

On May 24, 1853, the trustees "voted, that it is not in the power of this Board to comply with the condition on which Rev. Sawyer has expressed willingness to accept the office of president, and therefore that the office is vacant." Two days later it was recommended "that Rev. Hosea Ballou, 2nd, be appointed President of Tufts College," and he was thereupon "unanimously elected." On July 12, notice was given that "Dr. Ballou was willing to accept the office." As his first official duty during the following week, "the corner stone of Tufts College was laid, with appropriate public services, July 19, 1853."

During 1853 and 1854 Dr. Ballou visited all of the New England colleges, and many of the endowed preparatory schools and then traveled extensively in Europe in preparation for the work of administering the college. Underlying this investigation was also Dr. Ballou's service as Overseer of Harvard College for ten years. "Dr. Ballou submitted the printed plan of instruction which had been prepared under his direction" on May 29, 1855.

At the formal opening of Tufts College on August 22, 1855, "President Hosea Ballou was inaugurated and the Professors were inducted into office." In that year the College entered its creative and expansive period, for which the first period of establishment was given, gaining ascendance in the educational world. It produced men and women of larger resources and greater opportunities for assistance, but of the generation that founded the College, it can be said that there have been none with more single devotion or consecration than those who first conceived of the idea and gave tangible existence to Tufts College in 1850.

Jumbo Victory March

Hail to the name of Jum-bo, As we march on down the field! — Come on and push that pig-skin o-ver, — For our team will nev-er yield. Long may our name be glo-rious! — And, victor-ious at thy will, we will cheer, cheer, cheer in tri-umph — For the Col-lege on — the hill. —

Undergrads

Called the "first normal post-war class" back in 1947, it wasn't long before they were beset upon by the "first post-war Sword and Shield Society" of T '50. The Hill was soon dotted with brown and blue caps, which were promptly drowned at a rain revival meeting. However, after winning the annual rope pull at the Amherst game, they were permitted to go on their way unmolested and elected I. Schneider, J. Sweeney, J. Farrell, T. Davis, and M. Kontoff as their first class officers.

The following year as Sophomores they unleashed their fury on the class of '52 with "Black John" Sweeney leading the Sword and Shield. With the S.S.S. (Sweeney's Sword and Shield) they put on the annual Traditions Dance and in the spring, staged another very successful dance, the Spring Informal. Their officers this year were C. Chisholm, J. Farrell, T. Davis, J. Connelly, and A. Lutton. A class smoker terminated their second year on the Hill.

This year saw '51 conduct the novel Football Frolic Dance after the Middlebury game and under their president, Jim Farrell, they are deep in the midst of plans for the Junior Week-end and Prom.

IVY SOCIETY

Founded in 1901, Ivy Society, the Junior Honorary Society, has as its principal objective the increasing of class spirit in the Junior Class. Its members are elected every spring by the Sophomore class. The Society's functions are, to conduct Junior Weekend, to act as ushers at formal Chapel functions, to send two representatives to the Student Council, and to publish annually the Ivy Book of Tufts College, this being its chief contribution.

In 1947, the Class of '51 began its college career as a group of eighty-seven girls which has grown to one hundred and eight at present. As usual these girls underwent the orientation period of a new freshman class and even came forth with an unexpected revolution during their short hazing. They were all entertained by their "Big Sisters" from the Junior Class in the old Jackson gym.

Their sophomore year gave these girls a chance to haze the incoming class, and also an opportunity to know them better. The next fall, as Juniors, they gave a get-acquainted tea for the Freshmen and aided the Tuftsmen to prepare and present the Football Frolic dance. The Junior weekend, resplendant with class blazers, will be their major event of the spring.

Besides these major projects as a class, each girl as an individual participates in at least one of Jackson's many varied activities.

Following the traditional hazing, the men's first activity was a dance to raise class interest, prompted by the announcement of '52 elections.

Later that year, the Jackson women assisted the Tuftsmen in presenting a Dogpatch dance featuring Li'l Abner decorations.

Last fall when the new freshmen appeared on Hill, the Sword and Shield, headed by Bill Sullivan greeted them with paddles and beanies. This organization later gave the Traditions dance in honor of the Frosh. Jackson '52 meanwhile elected Ricky Craven as hazing chairman, and inaugurated a baby party in costume for the newcomers.

Annual Freshman-Sophomore tug-of-war won by Freshmen.

After a three day period of aptitude tests, orientation lectures, and get-acquainted meetings, the class of '53 entered Tufts. Once again the Hill blossomed with brown and blue beanies, green bows, books in suitcases, baby dolls and scrubbed faces minus lipstick. After a hazing period which included marching as a unit to home football games and praying for rain, the men won the Homecoming Weekend Freshman-Sophomore rope pull which enabled them to discard their beanies. Previously the women had been treated to a Baby Costume Party by the Sophomores to celebrate the burning of the green bows. Those who had broken regulations by daring to wear forbidden make-up were given appropriate penalties. Later the Tuftsmen showed their spirit by sponsoring vigorous campaigns for class elections. Complete with loudspeakers, music, and speeches, the whole class turned out to vote. Meanwhile, the Jackson freshmen had been treated to a Big Sister Party by the Junior Class and to an evening tea by Pan Hellenic Council. Working together, Tufts and Jackson '53 put on a highly successful Freshman Frolic and plan to present another in the Spring.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council has supervision over the extra-curricular activities of the college through its legislative powers. All student organizations receive their recognition and privileges from the council and those activities which are not maintained by regular organizations are regulated by this representative group in the interests of the campus community.

Some of the problems considered and activities promoted during the year were the organization of the Radio Station, a successful tag day campaign for band uniforms, impetus given to the honor societies concerning the reinstatement of intra-class competition, Freshman traditions, and football caravans to away games. The procedure for notifying students for payment of class dues was amended with adjustment made on past mis-payments. Elections for class officers and honor societies were carried out, and the Mayoralty campaign again completed under the direction of the council.

To further facilitate campus activities by a more equitable distribution of student events, the Calendar Committee established an activity classification system. The Tuf-tonian editorial board was given full control over its advertising policies and the franchise for selling photographs in college buildings was given to the Jumbo Book. The Auditing Committee compiled financial balances for all the organizations and a comprehensive picture of bidding, budgeting, and membership policies.

In an effort to reduce the individual benefits previously obtained at the expense of the students, the junior class officers asked the council to eliminate any payments from private companies to members of the college community for their services to those companies. The first change was made in returning the commission on class rings to the student purchasers.

Recommendations were made concerning Curtis Hall in the hope that student employment might be increased and the food prices and service might better meet the aim of being a non-profit service. Resulting from this is the policy to use students in most of the non-skilled jobs starting in the fall semester.

Implementing the original plans for the council regarding some authority over matters of student conduct, the cases of infringement of rules during examinations were placed under council jurisdiction. Particular cases of misdemeanor are considered within the faculty regulations and the decision of the council is returned to the faculty as a recommendation for punishment.

The Board, with members elected annually, meets several times a month. This year's Board published a freshman handbook and established a sewing room in Richardson House. With the new lounge in the Jackson Gym as an ideal location, the club found its faculty tea successful and intends to make it an annual affair.

Every Jackson student is a member of the association and is encouraged to take part in its program. All members have the opportunity to participate in the spring picnics, outdoor breakfasts, square dances and suppers. Annual athletic awards are presented by the council each spring to girls who have excelled in a particular sport.

Membership is restricted to elected graduates and undergraduates who present an average of 3.00 or better in Biology and with a minimum of nineteen credits in Biology. Speakers of significance present original work and research at the bi-monthly meetings. The society holds an annual open house in Barnum Museum at which work done by the student body under the direction of the society is displayed.

SIGMA PI SIGMA

Sigma Pi Sigma is the only national physics honorary society. Its chapters are restricted to colleges and universities of recognized standing which offer a strong physics major. The chapters receive into membership physics students and others in closely related fields, when such students attain high standards of scholarship, professional merit and academic distinction. Membership is conferred upon no basis of selection other than scholastic or professional record. Both men and women students are eligible for membership. Reception into the society is consummated without formal pledge or secret-order training.

The engineering students at Tufts College have banded together in societies pertaining to the various separate fields of engineering. The aim of these societies, AIChE, ASME, AIEE, ASCE, is to provide speakers from their chosen fields, or to make trips to nearby industrial plants furthering the student's practical knowledge of engineering. Refreshments and informal get-togethers are encouraged after each meeting. The four societies, through the medium of their publications and annual conventions, promote the newest concepts of engineering knowledge and techniques.

The four are bound together locally through the Engineer's Council which acts as their liaison with the rest of the "Hill." The major purpose of this council, founded in the spring of '47, is to co-ordinate engineering functions and to encourage greater participation in college activities. To this effect, several "Smokers" are held each year. The council also sponsors an open house each spring.

RADIO SOCIETY

The Tufts Radio Society was founded in 1911 and has since passed through many stages of development. It is now regaining significance after a slump during the war years. An eighty meter antenna from West Hall to North Hall has recently been set up. The society can be heard on the air under the call WIKN.

A radio station for Tufts College has assumed more concrete form with the submission to President Carmichael of plans and cost analysis of the projected station. The report was submitted by the Committee for the Establishment of a Radio Station at Tufts. The committee is attempting to bring to Tufts a broadcasting system similar to those in operation at many of the surrounding colleges. The approval of the station by the Off-Hill Club, Student Council, and the Engineering Society indicates that the students want a station on Campus. It is hoped that we will soon see a fully equipped radio station operating on campus, bringing another opportunity to the students to develop interests in fields other than those offered academically.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club was established for the purpose of stimulating student interest in the field of photography. Membership is open to any student on hill and weekly meetings offer speakers, salon exhibits, and discussion periods.

Standing: M. Pearson, R. Pastorello, A. Charlton, H. Boulay.
Seated: J. Blake, F. Johnson, R. Greator, V. Paolini, A. Moore (president).

The Rodin Society, since its beginning three years ago, has grown to be one of the most popular discussion groups on Hill. The purpose of the club is to have various faculty members gather with the group for an informal discussion concerning the main field of the faculty guest. Through these gatherings, the members are able to broaden their outlook and to become informed about fields of knowledge other than those in which they are studying. Thus premeds are seen heatedly defending Shakespeare; economics majors speaking about biology; others discussing subjects outside their major field. Meetings are held twice a month, with the first meeting of each year set aside for President Carmichael. The society is open to all male members of the college community although the meetings are usually limited to twenty members to facilitate discussion.

Pen, Paint, and Pretzels, the honorary undergraduate dramatic society of Tufts College, is open to all students in their Junior year who have exhibited an active and consistent interest in play production. That 3 P's is an all college activity is attested by the annual turnout of about 350 students for work in the Tufts Theater.

The first 3 P's production this year was Stephen Benet's The Devil and Daniel Webster, and in collaboration with the music department, the Boston premiere of Kurt Weill's musical, Down in the Valley. She Stoops to Conquer, by Goldsmith, followed as the second offering in December. The last production of the season was Beggars in Paradise, translated from the Flemish by Marston Balch, head of the Department of Drama. This play celebrated not only the American premiere of the play, but also 3 P's fortieth anniversary as an active undergraduate society on campus.

The success of all three "arena" productions depended on the ability of 3 P's members and non-members not only on stage, but in the "behind scenes" activities, costuming, make-up, and preparation of settings. The caliber of these productions furthered Tufts Theater's reputation as one of the foremost experimental groups in the country.

Besides offering the chance to learn the workings of a professional style theater, 3 P's also offers the satisfaction of cooperation between all elements, culminating in the Strike Parties held at the end of each run.

The Tufts Debating Society has enjoyed one of its most active and successful years. The Second Annual Eastern Invitational Debate Tournament, sponsored by Tufts, was held with over twenty of the outstanding colleges of the East participating.

Our teams have met many of the top ranking schools in the country, among which were West Point, Notre Dame, Rutgers, Temple, Georgetown and almost all the New England colleges.

Representatives have been sent to participate in the Dartmouth College Tourney, the R. I. State Model Congress, the M.I.T. Tourney, the B.U. Tourney, the Brooklyn College Tournament, and the Georgetown Tourney. Top honors were won by Tufts debaters at almost all these tournaments.

The Debating Society has been coached and advised this year by Jack Brown, a Harvard law student.

The Forensic Council elects to its membership those debaters who have distinguished themselves by successful participation in inter-collegiate competition. The council acts as the over-all administrative group for the Debating Society.

Its regular meetings begin with a supper and worship service arranged by students, and the Informal receptions are occasionally given for the benefit of Christian Science college students, at which a prominent local Christian Scientist is invited to relate his experiences in the religion which are applicable to the problems frequently faced by the college age group. The organization's intention is to serve the needs of those in the college community interested in the study of Christian Science.

NEWMAN CLUB

This year the Newman Club was able to enjoy many educational lectures, the subjects including Apologetics, Freudian Psychology, and the Constitution of the United States. Individual efforts of the members helped weave the club into a complete union of Catholic education, fellowship, and academic life at Tufts. On the first Saturday of every month a representative body of Newmanites receive for Our Lady of Fatima's Intention, the peace of the world and the conversion of Russia. The club basketball team has had an undefeated season, and the club choir competed in the Spring and Christmas sings. The Tufts Newman Club operates with a threefold aim always in mind—to foster the spiritual, intellectual, and social interests of Catholic students, to weld them into a common union, and to assist Tufts College and its students whenever possible.

An accelerated shore school and on-the-water training program makes sailors out of amateurs and gives to all members the opportunity to enjoy the unsurpassable thrills of small-boat sailing.

The policy is to present speakers who are thoroughly acquainted with every phase of education. The Education Club is now planning a series of panel discussions on the major problems of education in a democratic society, and hopes to have an extensive information bureau for the benefit of those who are planning to enter the teaching profession.

The International Relations-History Club was reactivated in the fall of 1948 by the joint action of students and faculty advisors from the History and Government departments. This organization attempts to present programs on history and foreign affairs which will be of interest to the entire college community. Many well-known and informative speakers have been brought to the campus, including Dr. Benjamin Cohen, Assistant Secretary General of the United Nations, and Otto Zausmer, editorial writer and foreign news analyst of the Boston Globe. However, the club has also made student discussions an important part of the year's program.

PRE-LEGAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Legal Society of Tufts College is composed of those students on the Hill who wish to continue their studies in the field of law. This year, Le Cercle Francais, composed of French majors and other students with a speaking knowledge of French, has undertaken the new policy at its meetings of having speakers, connected in some way with France, to stimulate a more direct interest in the culture of that country. The business meetings are conducted in French, with an English explanation if necessary. In the spring term the club, under the capable direction of Dr. Baleh, produced a short play for the interest of its members and French students from neighboring college communities. The organization also sponsored a typical French dinner, which will become one of its annual customs.

GERMAN CLUB

The Tufts College German Club, known to its members as "Der Deutsche Verein von Tufts College," has as its purpose the fostering of an increased interest in the German culture and language. The club also provides an opportunity for social gatherings for its members. A typical meeting consists of the singing of German songs followed by a speaker.

In the spring term, the club sponsored a Spanish festival for its members and Spanish students from neighboring colleges.

RUSSIAN CLUB

Russkoe Tovarishchestvoe, a new club at Tufts, was begun last spring by a small group of students of the Russian language, in order to become acquainted with the cultural and social aspects of Russia, and to have further practice in the language itself. Last spring the members enjoyed a borscht and pirogue supper and plans call for a repeat of this popular event. The club is also trying to make arrangements to present a Russian film with English sub-titles in the spring, and to participate in the Spring Sing as a novelty group.

The Tufts Mathematics Club offers talks and discussions on various aspects of mathematics which are not covered in classes. Most of the speakers are students who volunteer to present a topic of general interest. Members of the faculty also participate. The meetings are open to everyone. The program for 1950 included a series of lectures and discussions with the primary purpose of acquainting the members of the club with the duties of the Republican Party.

With the Congressional elections slated for this fall, the club is making plans to conduct its customary non-partisan Absentee Ballot Service and engage in numerous activities, such as bell ringing, driving voters to polls, rallies and banquets.

VARSITY CLUB

In 1937, the Tufts Varsity Club was formed for the purpose of promoting interest in varsity athletics and consolidating all varsity lettermen. The club has established a scholarship fund to aid both incoming freshmen and varsity men who are worthy athletes. Throughout the year, the club has initiated many main social events, the famous Varsity Club Minstrel Show being the most outstanding. In both fall and spring, the club sponsors a Sports Dance in honor of the lettermen of the preceeding season. Through the efforts of this club, the Roy Phillips Memorial Trophy was established in memory of the great runner of Tufts who was killed in World War II. This trophy is awarded to the most outstanding athlete of the year.

CHORUS

Today the Tufts College musical organizations have reached a highpoint in their long and active careers.

The best known group of all is the Odikon Singers who perform under the direction of Dr. Stone. Their trips away from the Tufts Campus have gained them an excellent reputation among college choral groups.

The Tufts Band has extended its activities so that at present it is not only popular at football games, but also on the concert stage. This year the band is making a concentrated effort to acquire new uniforms, and it looks optimistically towards next fall when they can appear before the students in them.

The one hundred voice Chorus has acquired a repertoire which includes all the musical greats. This group is constantly making itself known to a wider audience of music lovers each year, by its many concerts.

CHAPEL CHOIR

The Chapel Choir was organized at the time the Sunday Chapel services were started two years ago. Since then it has sung regularly at all these services.

This year the membership of the choir has more than doubled that of the previous years. The average attendance is now about thirty. In the entire year the choir will have sung a repertoire of twenty-seven anthems at a total of twenty-three services. Many of the choir are members of Odikon and Chorus, thereby the range or extent of the repertoire is broadened.

NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION

As a member of the National Student Association, the Tufts-Jackson NSA has undertaken a program designed to aid the student through projects possible only at the inter-collegiate level. With the cooperation of over 300 member colleges, the organization is able to accomplish works that the local student government cannot.

Among the outstanding activities of the Tufts-Jackson NSA is the Purchase Card System whereby students may receive discounts of 10-35% on many purchases. The Tufts Council for DP Students is a committee of the organization, and conducted a successful drive this spring. Money was raised for a DP student who is to study at Tufts. Clothing and books were collected and sent to European students.

Tufts was appointed, by last winter's NSA Regional Assembly, to form a sub-commission to investigate the question of compensation, academic or financial, for participation in extra-curricula activities.

Students interested in summer foreign tours were given information about opportunities at an NSA meeting in March. Also, a committee was formed to investigate the question of faculty rating on the Tufts campus.

All students are members of NSA and participation in the organizations activities is open to anyone interested.

The Tufts Weekly is the newspaper of the college. In its range of features and news, it offers the student reporter the opportunity to express himself in print. To the various editors it offers practical experience in the newspaper field.

The paper is written, edited and printed entirely by the students on the Hill without any outside aid. At the end of every semester a new editor is appointed and thus the paper always expresses variety of opinions and objectives, as well as maintaining a varied editorial policy.

Printed once a week with the exception of holidays and vacations, the paper is distributed to Tufts students, faculty, alumni, and to various other colleges in the country.

TUFTS LITERARY MAGAZINE

Set up in 1940 as "The Tuftonian", the magazine of Tufts College is unique among college publications in that it includes all students, all the faculty, and all the alumni in its group of potential contributors. This helps the editors of the magazine to present the college with a cross section of its literary out-put.

The Tuftonian, although usually late in publication due to the numerous difficulties that beset any original literary work, always finds a ready reader audience, interested in its wide variety of material.

This year the magazine has continued the policy of last year's editors, and endeavored to have variety in make-up as well as in material. The policy has well reached maturation, and has brought many favorable comments.

The 1949 edition of the Ellis coached Tufts football team compiled a standout record of five wins, three losses, and one tie against some of the strongest small college teams in the east.

Highlights of the nine game schedule were victories over the Bowdoin Polar Bears, 27-13, and the hitherto unbeaten Panthers of Middlebury, 19-0.

Although unbeaten Trinity nipped the Ellismen, 6-0, in the final game this one might easily be ranked as the outstanding game of the season, for Trinity, among the nation's undefeated and top scoring teams, had rolled over all other opponents and was heavily favored to defeat Tufts. A fighting Jumbo eleven, however, played their best defensive game of the year to hold the Hilltoppers to one touchdown.

Co-captains elect for 1950, Len Knox and Andy Forti, along with Rudy Fobert, Len Cullen and John Sweeney turned in outstanding performances to stop the powerful Trinity attack time and again as it drove deep into Tufts territory.

After the opening win over Bowdoin, Tufts ran into a tarter in Northeastern and was fortunate to come off a one point winner, 7-6, by virtue of an Andy Forti block of a Northeastern place kick and Irv Schneider's conversion after a Junie Wall touchdown. This game marked the start of a long string of costly injuries for the Ellismen that conceivably were the causes for later defeats at the hands of Bates and New Hampshire. Julie Doliner, star scatback, injured his leg against the Northeastern and as a result played only a few minutes in the remaining games.

Tufts suffered its first defeat of the season to an Art Blanchard-led Bates College team that scored a 12-7 upset win over the Jumbos, who couldn't seem to get started until the late stages of the game. The turning point was the calling back of a so-called Tufts forward-lateral scoring play that would have put the Jumbos ahead. It was called a forward lateral by the officials, but films taken at the game later proved that it was a legitimate play.

Jumbo took this in stride and on successive weekends walloped favored Middlebury, 19-0, held Williams to a 14-14 tie, and decisively defeated Amherst, 33-14, before an enthusiastic home-coming crowd that jammed the oval to capacity.

Injuries had again been taking their toll in these games as taekle Ted Reed suffered a twisted knee and Dan Bennett, John Baronian, John Caligione, Andy Forti, and Irv Schneider lost much of their effectiveness through minor strains and bruises.

These injuries, plus off-day play by the team as a whole, contributed considerably to the defeat by New Hampshire, 25-0, as Jumbo took his worst loss of the season.

However, with a week's rest and the return of several regulars from the injured list, Tufts came back strong to defeat Mass. State, 27-7. This game set the stage for the climactic Trinity battle that saw the Tufts squad hold a superior team in check on the ground, yielding the only score on a 35-yard pass from Ed Ludoff, Trinity quarterback, to Dick Aiken, giant 6'4" end.

The football year of 1949 saw the advent of the controversial two platoon system at Tufts under Fish Ellis and the selection of John Baronian, Paul Kirkorian, and Gabe Alexander to the Armenian All-American honorary football team selected by a leading Armenian newspaper.

Event should Ease Tufts' Football Problem

After dropping three of their first five starts, the 1949 Jumbo Basketball team gained momentum and rolled to an impressive 20-5 season's record. Coach Fred Ellis' crack quintet broke every scoring record in the book.

No less than three of the Jumbo hoopsters topped "Spud" Shapiro's individual scoring record. Co-captain elect Jim Mullaney hit for 462 points while retiring captain Al Perry had 343. The third of the Somerville trio, co-captain elect Don Goodwin, broke Shapiro's 325 total points scored in 1942, by a lone foul shot. The score run up against Curry College was the highest by any Tufts team, and the two team total was the highest ever scored in Cousens Gym. The records certainly carry out the belief that the 1949-

1950 Tufts College basketball team was the best in the long history of the school.

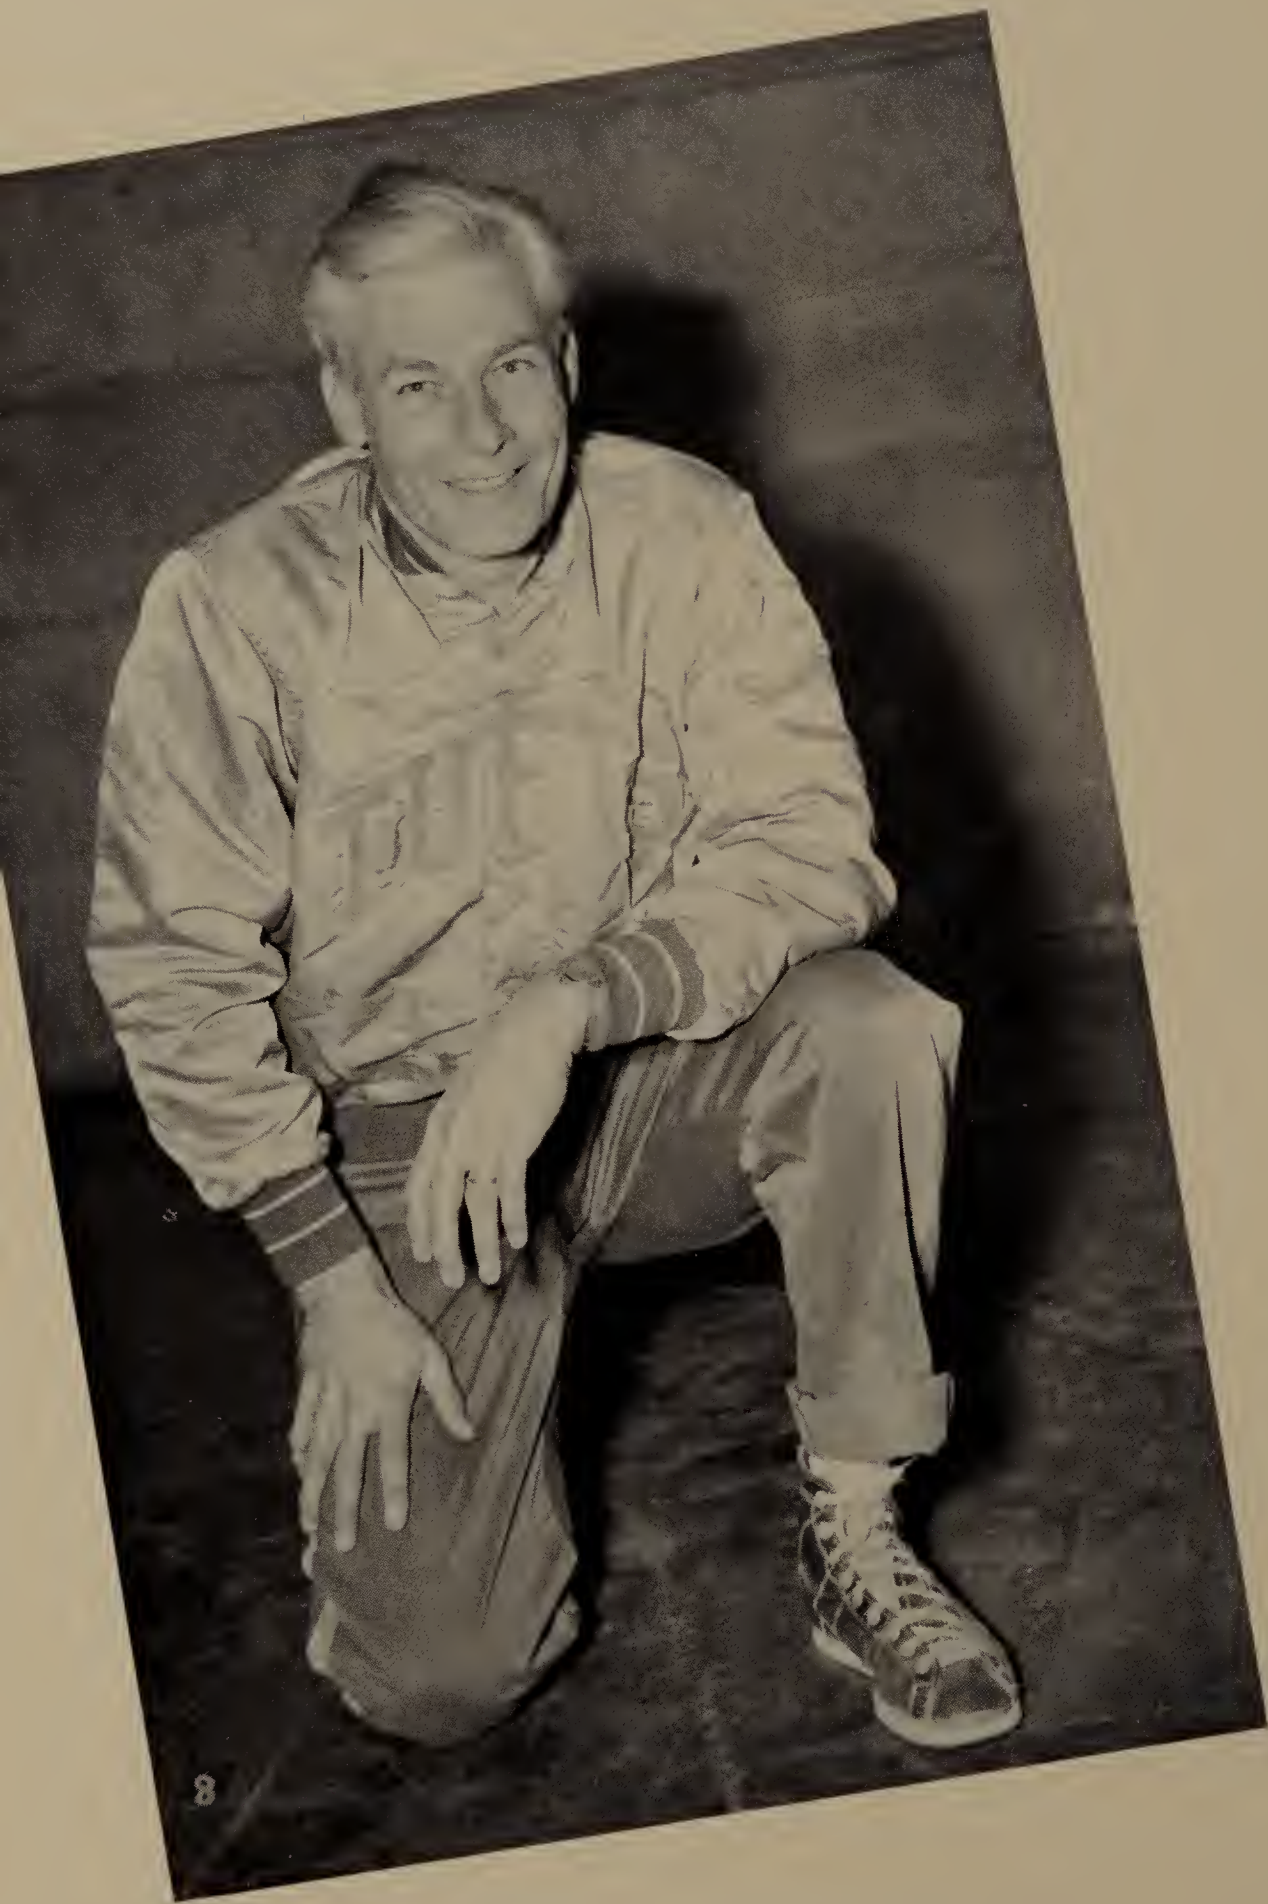

Next year's hoop team will sorely miss captain Al Perry. Al not only scored 343 points for the Brown and Blue, but also sparked his club with his sterling playmaking and his miraculous set shots. Perry, incidentally, scored on 77% of his foul shots to lead the Tuftsmen in this department. The Jumbos will also miss the dependable hands of Lee Kolankiewicz in the scrambles under the basket, and the steady aggressive play of Jack Kochiss.

The high scoring Mullaney and Goodwin, however, are returning and will form the nucleus around which Coach Ellis hopes to build another successful quintet.

The indoor track team enjoyed its third straight undefeated season. Decisive victories over Northeastern, B.U., Brown, N. H., and Conn. ran the trackmen's unbeaten string to fifteen dual meets. The team, coached by Ding Dussalt, Prof. Yeager, and Nils Perkins also distinguished itself elsewhere; in Providence, the squad just missed the N.E.A.A.U. championship and in Boston Garden and Madison Square Garden the relay teams gained important victories. The top point scorer was Co-captain Rudy Fobert who frequently took firsts in the dash, low hurdles and broad jump. Record holder Tom Bane and Bob Baechus were one-two in the weight department, while Co-captain Fred Schoeffler lowered the two mile record and was top long distance runner, Milt Craig, Ed O'Connell, Angie Semenza and Dick Briggs were others in the longer runs. A new 600 yard record was established by unbeaten Armon Furey while John Buckley and George Minot were consistent scorers in the shorter distances. Ken Cox was always a scorer in the broad jump and in the high hurdles, it was Bernie Goldburgh, Art Lutton and Charlie Chisolm, who was also a pole vaulter. The manager was again Hal Goldman.

The Tufts cross country harriers finished another fine season with a record featuring wins over Harvard, Coast Guard, Boston College, Northeastern, and a strong showing in the New England Intercollegiate meet held at Franklin Field.

The two losses to M.I.T. and Boston University can be attributed to a lack of depth in the squad. Fred Schoeffler and Captain Ed O'Connell consistently finished among the leaders in every race throughout the season, but lack of supporting strength greatly hampered Tufts chances. Along with O'Connell and Schoeffler little Angie Semenza scored frequently for Coach Yeager's team.

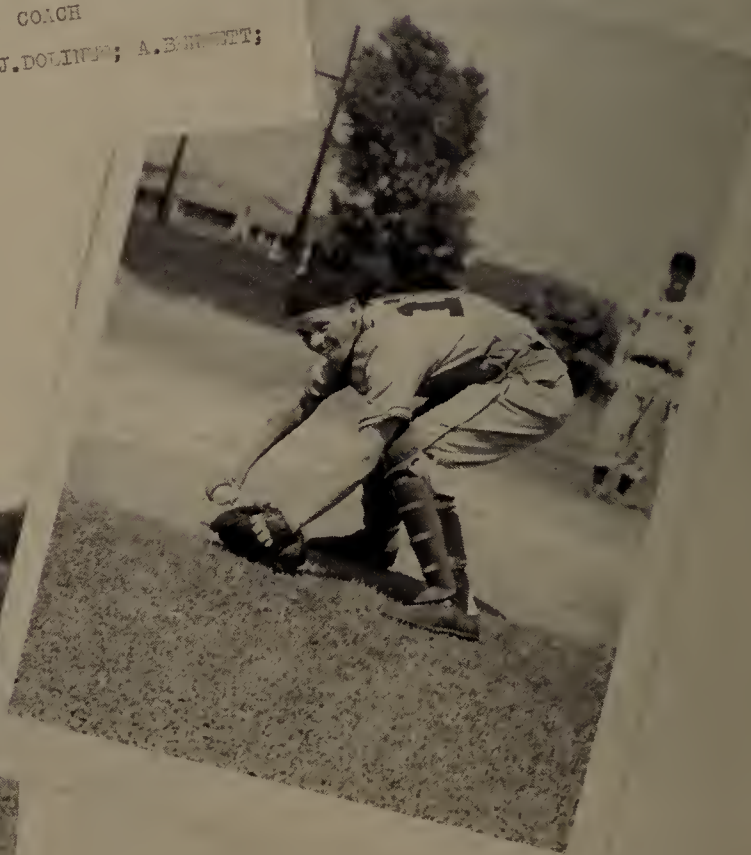

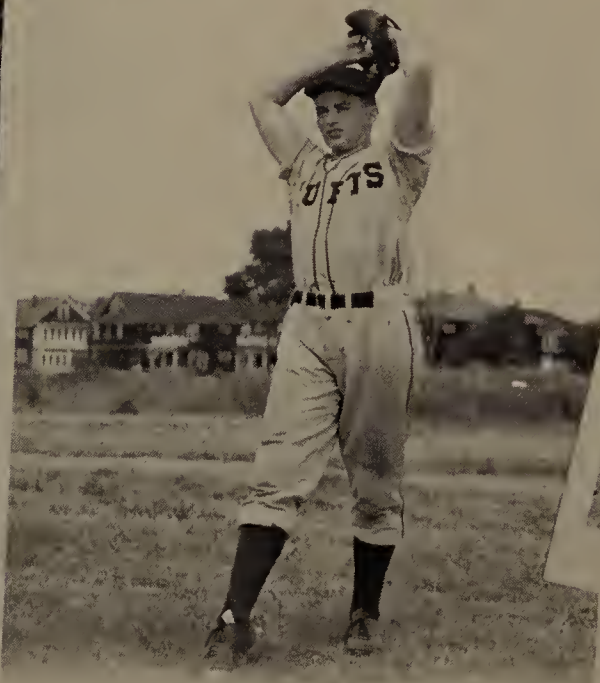

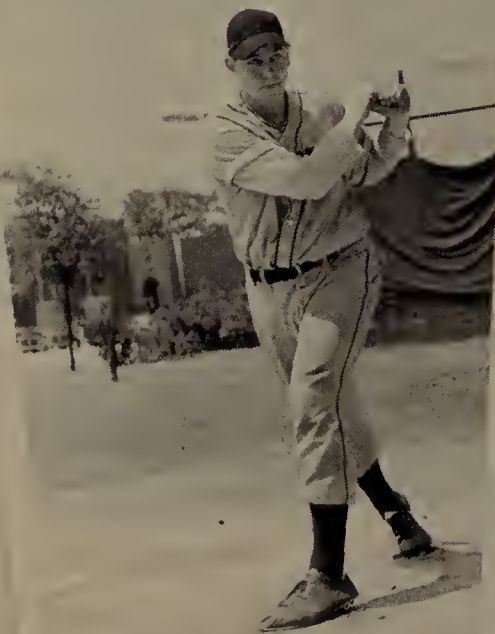

In the important New England Intercollegiate Cross Country meet Tufts finished fifth out of fifteen competing teams, placing Schoeffler, after a thrilling race with Josh Tobey of Brown, in the second position and O'Connell in the fifth spot.

For the first time in history the Tufts baseball team faced as many as twenty-two opponents. Included in the schedule was a spring vacation trip to New Jersey, where strong clubs Upsala, Seton Hall, Rutgers, and Princeton were played. After the “southern” trip, Tufts stuck fairly close to home, climaxing the season with an Alumni Day game with traditional rival Boston College.

Highly successful coach, “Jit” Ricker was able to field a veteran team with seniors starting in seven of the nine positions. As was the case in the previous three years, the club’s leading pitcher was right hander Bud Niles, who was ably backed by seniors Al Rakofsky, and Jack Carlow as well as dependable junior Bob Lauber.

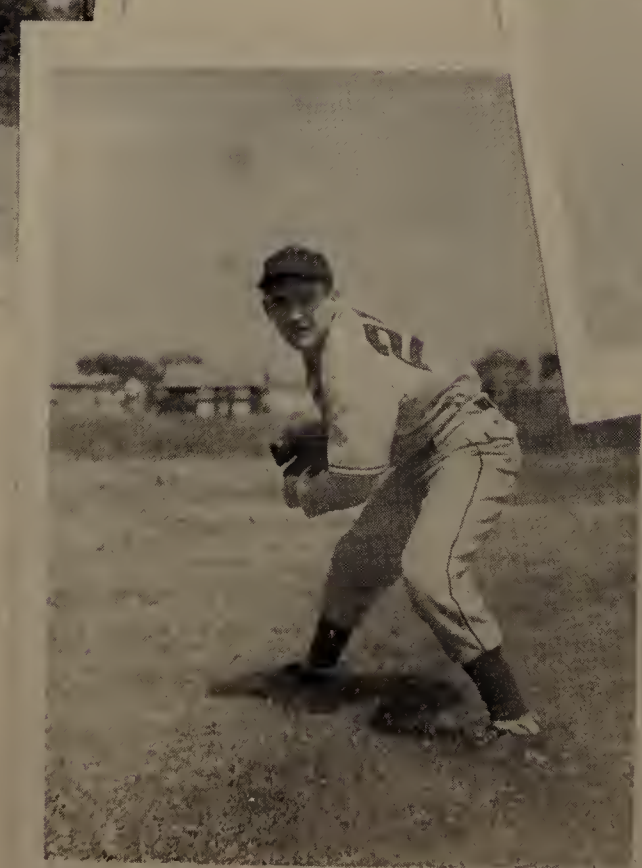

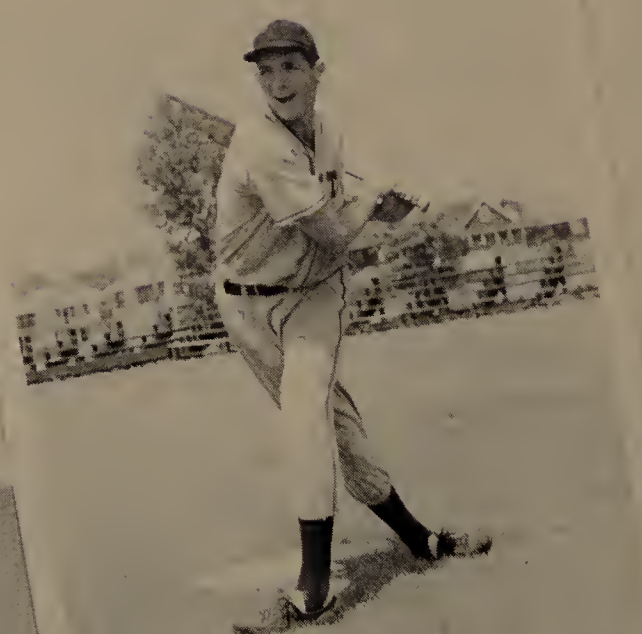

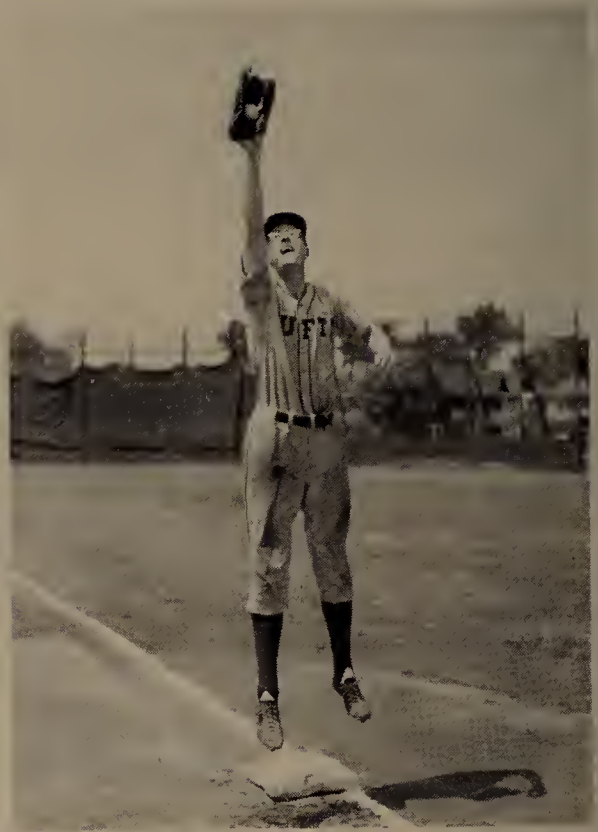

Veterans of the forty-nine season filled most of the infield positions. George Minot played his third straight year at first base, and four year regular Ed Schluntz held down second base, aided by sophomore Bill Burns, newcomer Al Bennet and senior Arnie Castagner took care of shortstop while juniors, Bill Sokolin and Marios Boyages alternated at third.

For the third season Jim Jabbour was the number one catcher, but he received plenty of competition from Moon Mullins and Dick Littlefield.

SWIMMING

The Tufts swimming team, suffering from the loss of many stars, began the building up process by ending their season with four wins and seven losses.

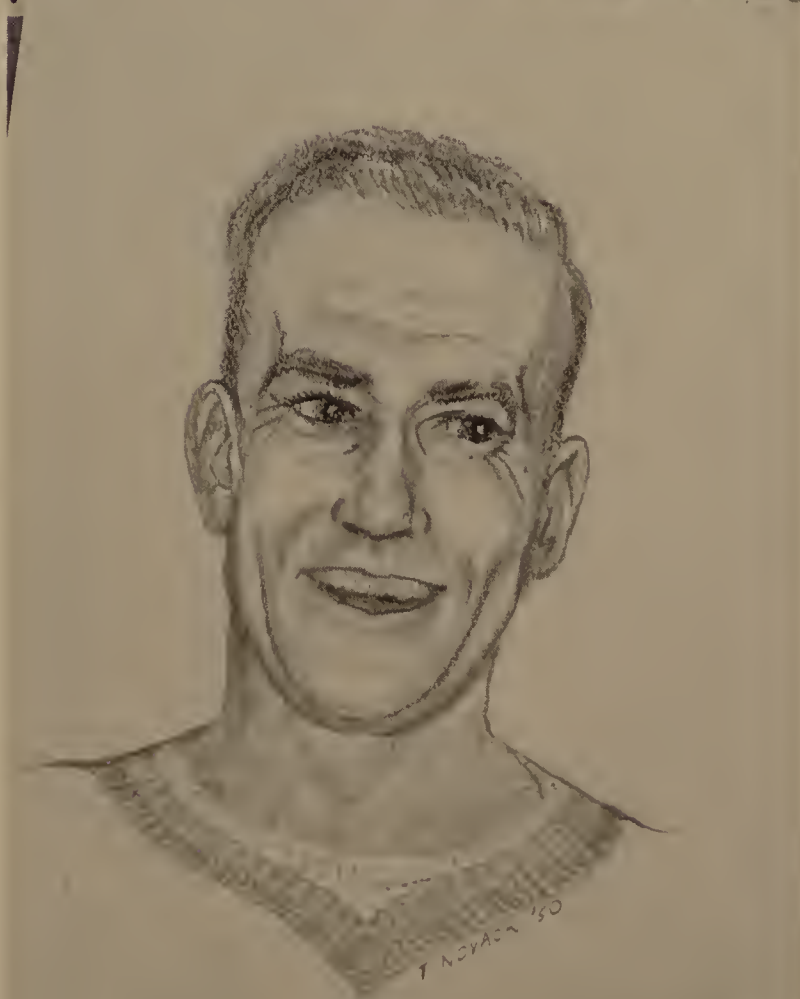

Paeed in the free style events by sophomore Warren Haley, the squad holds a great deal of promise for the future. Haley, during the season, broke the Hamilton Pool records in the 220 and 440. In the W.P.I. meet he set a New England record for a 20 yard pool 220. At Conneetieut he set new reecords in the 100 and 440. Coach Larry Palmer feels Haley is even eapable of more.

In the free style events were Senior and Co-captain Hal Kuhl, Bill Tyler and Fred Haatz. Kuhl, who finished his fourth season with the squad, managed to swim in five different events during the year.

Ron Heaton, Lloyd Caplan, and Co-captain George Glines shone in the specialty events. Heaton set a pool mark at Conneetieut, and both he and Caplan garnered over four points a meet between them.

The soccer team had a moderately successful season, with four wins in nine contests. The Bohnmen played their best brand of ball away from home; trouncing Clark and W.P.I. while dropping close decisions to M.I.T. and Massachusetts. The veteran squad outscored their opponents 31 to 24.

Coach Sam Ruggeri is still building his wrestling team. This year's club led by Captain Art Powers gained valuable experience in this respect and posted some significant victories along the route. Dru Vinton, recipient of the most valuable player trophy and victor in nine straight contests, was perhaps the most outstanding mat man.

Vinton and Powers have been jointly selected to lead next year's promising squad. The fact that only one man will be lost from this year's team is indicative of things to come. Yes, Coach Ruggeri's expectations for a victorious Jumbo mat team may soon be realized.

TENNIS

Tufts ended its 1950 tennis season May 20th, playing the University of Massachusetts at Tufts. As expected Boston College and Babson Institute provided the stiffest competition. The team had one overnight trip this year, to Maine where they met Bates and Colby.

Captain Tommy Whalen, and Dick Tenney, were as last year, the team's most dependable competitors. Riekie Morris, a newcomer from Ligeria, Africa, Welsley Perkins and Kent Killan rounded out the first five.

Also on the squad were Robert Gulyassy, ineligible as a freshman, Gardiner Snow, Keith Carpenter, and Peter Brown. The team was managed by Harold Currie.

The Tufts squash team, despite many handicaps had a moderately successful season, beating two out of six strong opponents. An entire new group of players had to be formed because of graduation loss, and the team suffered from the lack of a full time coach. The team, as in the past, entered Class D competition in its quest for the Massachusetts Squash Racquets championship.

Paced by Co-captains Jim Hayward and Bill Duryea, the 1950 lacrosse team will undertake the longest and toughest schedule in recent Tufts history. Dartmouth, Brown, Harvard and Yale are among the eleven teams which will vie with the Jumbos.

However, the many returning lettermen, bolstered by some fine sophomore prospects, should give Tufts a team which will provide stern opposition for any opponent.

Again this year after a slow beginning due to a lack of snow, the ski team made a formidable start by tying for first place, in its first meet with Bates College. The team led by Captain Mal Mooney took third place in the Tufts Invitational Meet at Jackson, N. H. There were nine other colleges from the New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference competing with Northeastern taking top honors. Steadied by coaching from last year's coach, and Mal Mooney, Conrad Dana, Stan Mackay, Dick Wills, Norm Blanchard, Cliff Harvey, and Arny McDowell, went through the remaining meets making good times and placing Tufts right up near the top. In meets sponsored by the following colleges: Northeastern, New Hampshire, New England College, Boston College and Springfield College, Tufts placed third, fourth, third and second respectively. With only two seniors graduating, the team has bright prospects for next year.

BASKETBALL

The Jackson varsity basketball team opened its 1950 season with a 22-14 victory over Bouve. Next it bowed to Pembroke with a score of 6-16. It came back to win the next two games with Belmont, 44-28, and the University of New Hampshire, 22-12. The Jaxonites only tie was scored in their final game with Radeliffe, 19-19. At the Wellesley Play, the team made an outstanding record of winning the four games they played. Laura Gaverlis, Arlene Kelley and Nancy Williams won places on the All Boston first team and Marie Joy and Dot Skinner on the second team.

HOCKEY

The 1949 field hockey team had a record of two wins, one loss and two ties. Opening the season with a 3-1 victory over Bouve, the Jaxonites then fell to Radcliffe with a score of 3-2, their only defeat of the season. Next the team battled Pembroke to a 2-2 tie, coming back to beat the University of New Hampshire, 3-0. Another tie, this time scoreless, was played with Sacred Heart College of Newton. Highlight of the season was the 2-0 defeat of the freshmen by the sophomores. Top honors in the department went to Marie Joy with five goals. The team also attended a field hockey playday at Wellesley, where as a result of top playing, Laura Gaverlis and Joanne McKenzie made first and second All Boston Team, respectively.

SWIMMING

The varsity swimming team this year had two meets, one with Pembroke and one with Radcliffe. The first meet was at home with Pembroke, and the team won 51-44. One of the highlights of the meet was the breaking of the Jackson pool record in the twenty-five-yard back crawl by Joan Edland with a score of 17.0. The second meet was away, with Radcliffe and the Jaxonites came out the losers with a final score of 41½-47½.

November 23rd, 1949

It has been a great pleasure to select the Homecoming Queen for your yearbook, "Jumbo." The photographs of the candidates, which you submitted, were all so attractive that I found it difficult to make a decision. It was also difficult to make my selection without seeing and talking to each contestant.

The winner, Miss Virginia Taylor, was selected on the basis of personality, character, and intelligence, as well as for natural beauty. My choice was influenced, of course, by my great interest in and admiration for the Natural Girl.

Sincerely yours,

John Robert Powers

ALPHA EPSILON PI

The Eta Deuteron Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity was chartered in 1940, when Sigma Omega Psi, which had been on hill since 1921, was incorporated into AEPi National.

The fraternity semester began about two weeks before schedule this year; the brothers arrived early to redecorate the chapter house and complete the basement Club.

To guide their pledge class, one of their largest, the AEPi's program includes the "big brother" system to demonstrate spirit and loyalty, both to school and fraternity.

Academically, AEPi was tops on hill by winning once more the coveted "Jumbo Awards." Individual brothers, elected to Phi Beta Kappa and Tau Beta Pi, also received distinction.

So diversified were its campus activities that at national convention Eta Deuteron was awarded a trophy for the group with most out-standing campus activities.

The AEPi's intimate house parties were highlighted by two formal dances and its festive Mardis Gras.

ALPHA SIGMA PHI

Though Alpha Kappa Pi fraternity merged with Alpha Sigma Phi in 1946, its more familiar name, "Kippie" has remained at Tufts. One of seventy chapters, the Kippies belong to one of the oldest fraternities in America, founded in 1845 at Yale University.

While the Christmas Pledge Formal and colorful spring "Sig Bust" and weekend at Magnolia were outstanding events, their newly decorated "Cave" soon gained fame as a center for weekly gatherings. Outstanding were the Casino Night, Gangster Haven, and a German Rathskellar party.

In addition to its numerous social functions, Alpha Sigma Phi has aided hospitals and, with the help of the Alpha Sigma Phi Sisters, played Santa Claus to underprivileged children during the holidays.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

After its founding, just after the Civil War, Alpha Tau Omega constantly expanded until today it numbers 105 chapters. Two members of the Maine Chapter established ATO at Tufts in 1895 as part of this growth.

The original "big brother" system of ATO is their practical and tangible method of emphasizing interest in scholastic achievement.

The brothers also play in both varsity and intermural sports.

With many varied social affairs the ATO's form lifelong bonds of fellowship.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delta Tau Delta Fraternity, founded in 1859, is represented at Tufts by the Beta Mu Chapter established in 1889. All eighty-two of its chapters are in constant touch with alumni groups, other chapters, and the national organization.

To aid the first semester freshman in starting his scholastic and extra-curricular activities, Beta Mu has developed an advisor system whereby each pledge is assigned to an upperclassman majoring in his field.

Socially, the Delts start the fall season with a Homecoming Day for Alumni. Interspersed throughout the year are many dances, house parties, and teas for Jackson sororities and dormitories. The Delts remember the Fall Pledge Formal and House party, All New-England Delt Weekend, and the Spring Formal and beach party as their red letter occasions.

DELTA UPSILON

Motivated by the idea that secret organizations were detrimental to the college society, the founders of Delta Upsilon established it as a non-secret fraternal group at Williams College in 1839. Since it received its charter in 1886, the Tufts Chapter of Delta Upsilon has sought to follow its original principles in leading a useful and progressive life.

The motto, "A D.U. in everything, every D.U. in something," has served as impetus; for D.U.'s are active in all phases and organizations of the college community. Highlights of the Delta Upsilon social season were the annual Gay Nineties Party, the Alumni Party, the Pledge Party and Ball, and the Christmas and Spring formals.

As the National D.U. Fraternity is striving successfully for a diversified brotherhood in the United States and Canada, so each local Chapter has similar aims offering these benefits of fraternity life.

PHI DELTA

On October 14, the college community attended an official house warming at 114 Curtis Street, the newly decorated home of Phi Delta Fraternity.

The successful Open House was the first event in the college calendar of Phi Delta, which was reactivated at Tufts only in 1948. The Christmas pledge formal, the Spring formal, and the Annual Initiation Banquet late in May filled the social roster.

Enthusiasm is a Phi Delt trait whether directed toward something like the molding of the winning snow sculpture for the Winter Carnival, or toward maintaining the fraternity's goal of high scholastic achievement.

At present Tufts' only local fraternity, Phi Delta plans to affiliate with one of America's leading national fraternities early next year.

PHI EPSILON PI

Since its founding over thirty-five years ago, Phi Epsilon Pi, by its social contributions and its fostering of a greater spirit of congeniality among students, has increased its importance on the Tufts campus.

Their whole hearted efforts in the mayoralty campaign reaped victory, for their candidate reigns as mayor of the hill this year.

While competing in varsity and intramural sports, the Phi Eps continue to maintain a high academic standing, often winning the Jumbo Award for scholarship.

THETA DELTA CHI

Union College at Schenectady, New York, was the scene of Theta Delta Chi's founding in 1847. The chapter at Tufts was started just nine years later in 1856. Today the black, white and blue flag of Theta Delta Chi flies over twenty-eight Chapter houses throughout America.

The Thetes won campus distinction this fall as winners of Intra-Fraternity football competition.

With hayrides, parties, formals, and week-end parties, Thete brothers enjoy Tufts life at their luxurious house on Packard Avenue.

ZETA PSI

Kappa Chapter of Zeta Psi, Tufts oldest fraternity, was founded in 1845. As eleventh oldest national fraternity, Zeta Psi was founded in 1847 at New York University by John Brand Tate Summers.

Zeta men from the thirty-one chapters in America and Canada have risen to international fame. Locally Kappa Chapter also contributes leaders in campus athletics and organizations, including the Tufts Weekly, honor societies, Yacht Club, and Three P's.

The trim "white house on the corner," once the home of Professor W. R. Shipman, today is serving as heart of Zeta Psi enthusiasm which augments college spirit on hill.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

With paint brush and originality, members of Delta of Alpha Omicron Pi enthusiastically redecorated their chapter rooms this fall.

This active group was founded at Jackson College in 1908. Since the national founding at Barnard College in 1897 the sorority has grown to include fifty-four chapters, three of which are in Canada. Alpha Omicron Pi became an international organization in 1930.

Foremost in A O Pi's philanthropic projects is the Frontier Nursing Service in the Kentucky Mountain area. Each chapter aids by donating financially and by collecting boxes of supplies for the project. In addition, A O Pi's Friendly Aid Fund assists in the rehabilitation of European children.

During the college year members enjoy informal parties, teas, cook-outs, and Cape Cod weekends. The formal Pledge White Rose Ball highlights the A O Pi's calendar.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Lambda Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta was established at Jackson College in 1907, fifteen years after its national founding at Lombard College in Galesburg, Illinois. This chapter, one of fifty active groups, now meets in newly enlarged rooms at the home of Professor Kelley on Talbot Avenue.

Lambda Chapter contributes to the national fraternity's philanthropic project benefiting needy children in Brown County, Indiana. At a Christmas party, they entertained a number of children from a Boston settlement house.

Active the entire year, Alpha Xi Delta began with a food and gift fair and Homecoming Open House for alumnae. They participated in the Pan-Hellenic progressive supper and food sale as well. Spring events include informal speakers, the annual Spring Formal, the April Initiation, and Founders' Day Banquet.

At academic honors this fall, Lambda Chapter was awarded the Pan-Hellenic Scholarship Cup, honoring them for their scholarship ability.

CHI OMEGA

Chi Alpha Chapter returned in September to new rooms, neatly decorated, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Friis. With two open house teas the members introduced their new home to their patrons and alumnae, and to the other sororities as well.

Friendship, creditable scholarship, participation in activities, and social and civic service are aims of the sorority which was founded at Jackson College in 1910. After its start at the University of Arkansas in 1895, Chi Omega increased its numbers until today, its 108 chapters make it the largest sorority in America.

Chi Alpha's philanthropic activities include a food sale for the polio fund, and the donation of a Thanksgiving turkey to the Medford Infirmary. A Christmas party, with gifts and Santa Claus, was given for the children at the South End House.

The informal parties, spaghetti suppers, and the Halloween treasure hunt were enjoyed in the fall. The annual spring banquet and the pledge formal at the Hotel Kenmore are part of a Chi Omega's interesting college year.

This spring Chi Alpha will be awarded the Pan-Hellenic plate for scholarship, being the most frequent recipient of the cup.

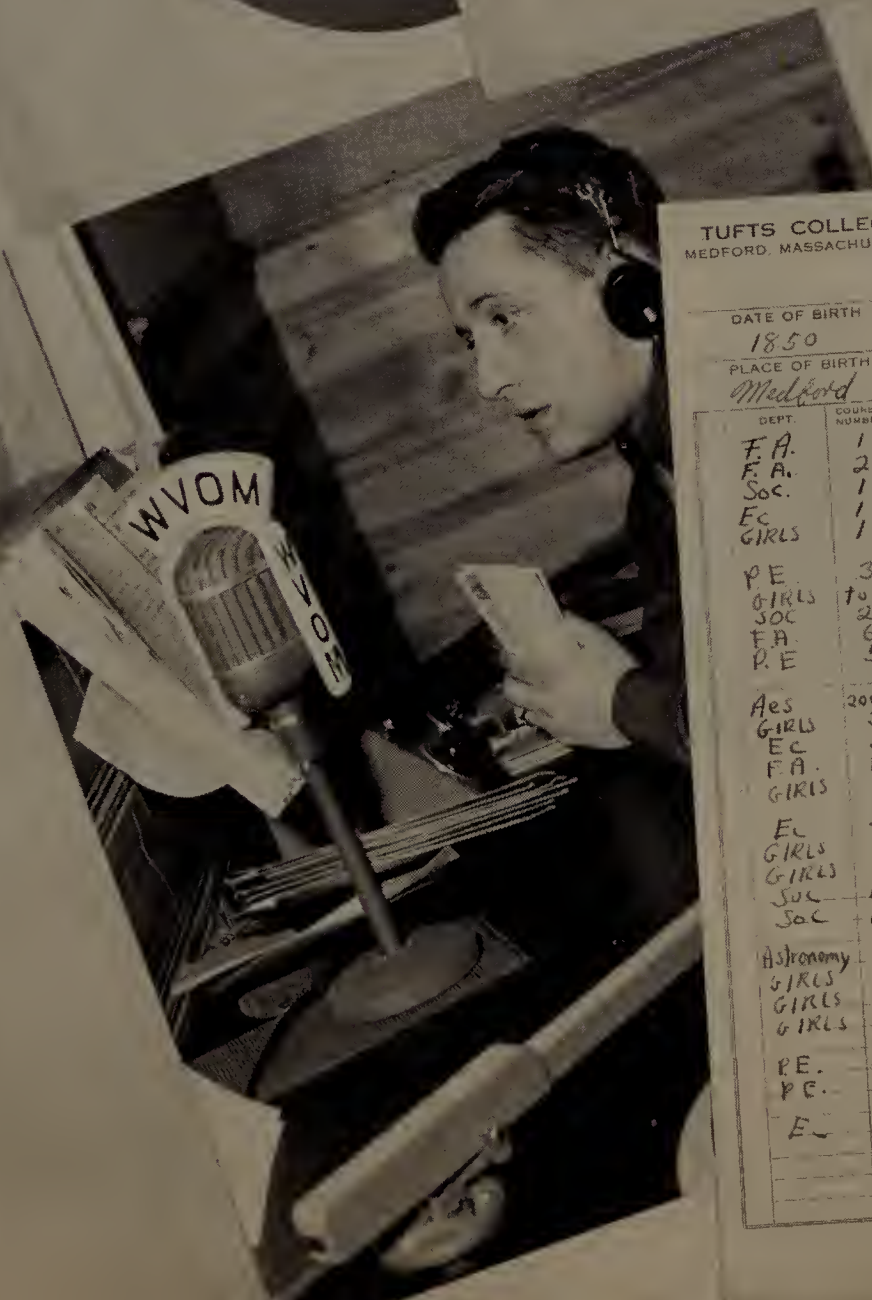

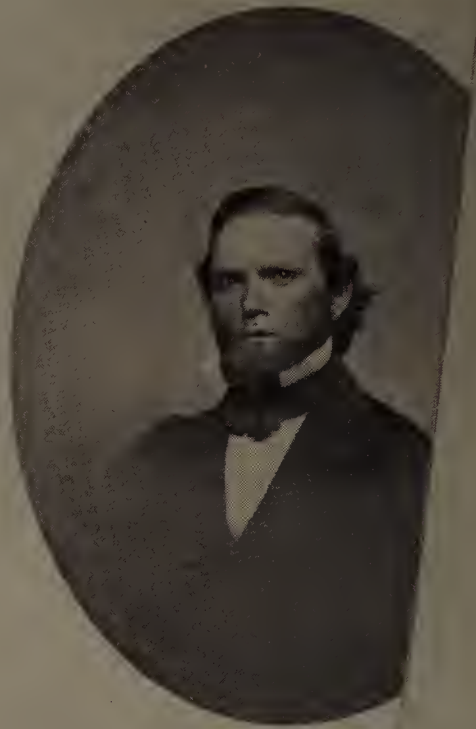

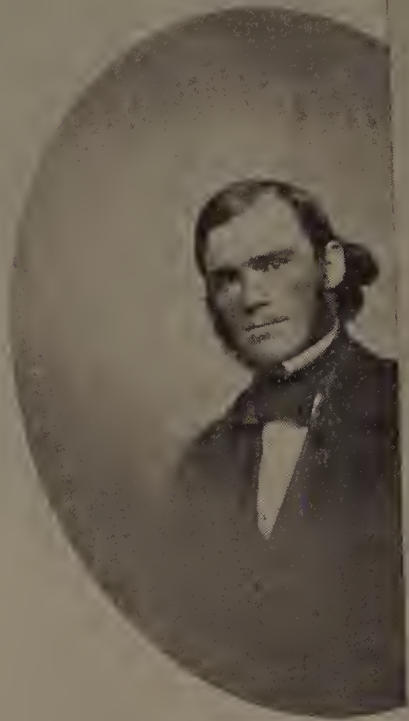

SIGMA KAPPA

Of fifty Sigma Kappa Chapters, distinguished by their early founding at Colby College in 1874, Omieron rates high in its enthusiasm. From 1913 when Omieron began at Jackson College, it continued to emphasize a balance of scholarship, cultural development, and service. Contributions of money, gifts, clothing, and books are made by the chapter to the sorority's international philanthropic project, consisting of aiding the Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society and its work among the coastal and seafaring people. The chapter also contributes to the sorority's college loan fund from which qualified applicants can obtain aid. At Christmas the whole group moved to North Brighton Community House where a gala party, complete with Santa Claus, was given for the needy children.

The center of all Sigma activities on hill, their meetings and parties, are the attractive rooms in Professor Yeager's house, 11 Talbot Avenue. Standouts among this season's activities were the annual formal, and the rush parties, the final one of which featured a Varga birthday calendar. Plans for a barn dance and other parties make their spring an active time.

CAPTAIN CONNORS

COM. LEACH

The Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps is made up of 176 Tufts students who hold appointments as either Regular or Contract Midshipman, USNR. Regulars hold full tuition Naval scholarships and receive a monthly subsistence. Their formal training on the Hill is supplemented with summer cruises that have recently carried the Tufts Middies to Hawaii, Panama, and soon to Europe. Marine Corps candidates attend a summer camp at Quantico, Virginia. The Contract students receive subsistence only in their last two years and undergo one two-week training period in the fleet.

Subordinate activities of the Naval Unit include the Tufts Tracer, a bi-weekly publication; and the Wardroom Club, official social organization. The latter offers membership to all Naval Science students and climaxes its activities with a Battalion Formal at Christmas and the traditional Ring Dance in the Spring. This year's dance held on May 12, was the climax of a Battalion Spring Week-end which also included the annual Review, inter-unit marching competition and a Unit Banquet for the presentation of awards to the outstanding Midshipmen.

David Patriquin served as President of the Wardroom Club, and Jim Cruise was the highest ranking student officer in the Battalion.

The History of annual publications at Tufts begins with the first class album in 1860. From that year until 1917, when the name Jumbo Book was first applied, there were only eleven other class albums published. The name Jumbo has been used on the twenty-four volumes appearing in the years 1917, 1922, 1925, 1927, 1943 and 1946-1949. This year the Class of 1950 adds Volume XXV to that list.

To the Jumbo Book, which eleven hundred students, faculty, and alumni now own, nothing can be added by us. But we do submit the result of our efforts with assurance that your satisfaction will be added, perhaps even your praise.

A project such as this, entirely managed by students requires much of its staff in the way of initiative, insight, and perseverance. The fact that the distant publication date removes the results from the efforts expended, further emphasizes that need. With the expansion of the plan to develop continuity of personnel such losses in time and effort resulting from disinterest and incompetence will be reduced. This year, there have been promotions and replacements for those positions from which others were necessarily demoted and dropped, so the ultimate publication has not suffered, but the whole process can be further facilitated by a training and merit system.

For two consecutive years the girls of Metcalf West have assisted with typing and clerical work; this year including Betts Carter, Nancy Doran, Beverly Higgins, Jane Harbaugh, Joan Lavery, Bambi Minton, Arleen Penny, Priscilla Powers, Lyn Priest, Ellie Reynolds and Barbara Keene. And our thanks are given also to Doris Garniss and Larry Cody of Packard Hall for their interest and co-operation.

The success of the publication depends upon the income returned by under-class sales to a large extent. Many of the editors and staff members helped in the sales campaign, as did the Jumbo Book Salesmen, Sue Wolozin, Ernie Schatz, Shirley Christner, Carol Magnus, Carl Moulton, Priscilla Powers, Al Shoolman, Will Cotte, Mack Converse, Ray Sanborn, Fran Rush, Don Schipke, Eleanor Reynolds, Jane Harbaugh, and Bobby Sheer.

Our thanks also go to the Boston newspapers, The Globe, The Herald-Traveler, Record-American and the Christian Science Monitor, for their aid in securing photographs for the winter carnival feature. For their assistance in compiling some of the historical material we wish to thank President Carmichael, Mr. Walkley, and Miss Hooper.

Page designing has been entirely the work of Larry Tose, except for the under-class section done by Mark Gibbons. We are indebted to Ira Grayboff for the cover design and to Bill Duker for the end page map and other ink drawings.

Emil Bazy, last year's enterprising Jumbo Book Editor-in-Chief, has rendered his services to several New England schools this year, giving of his complete knowledge of college publications. This volume is added to the others as testimony to the fact that in competition with much older organizations, Year Book Services has scored successes in price which the older groups could not equal and successes in production which they have not attained.
